Light flows gently, guiding the viewer, as if following a river of literature. The ceiling light covers define spaces to gather below the ambience. The space flows through expressive curvilinear elements on the walls that offer the soft suggestion of circulation, subtle touches of color emphasize important zones, create hierarchy, and personality to define different functions and helps add to the creative productivity.